

Belbin Team Development Programmes

Warm, practical workshops that help people understand each other, build trust and grow stronger ways of working together.

How Alber Infinity helps

Alber Infinity brings people together through Belbin Team Roles, in-house team training and tailored development programmes. Sessions are friendly, practical and designed around the real people in your business.

Belbin gives teams a positive language for strengths, working styles and contribution. It helps colleagues value difference, communicate more clearly and support one another with more confidence.

Belbin Team Workshops	Accredited profiling and guided team sessions to explore strengths, preferred roles and practical ways to collaborate.
In-House Team Training	Delivered at your workplace, shaped around your team and grounded in your everyday working reality.
Tailored Team Programmes	A series of sessions designed around your culture, goals and the relationships you want to strengthen.
Team Connection Days	Purposeful time together for teams who need to reconnect, reset and build trust.

What teams take away

- A shared language for working styles and contribution.
- More appreciation for different strengths and personalities.
- Clearer communication and more constructive conversations.
- Practical actions that support trust, culture and collaboration.

A simple next step

Start with a friendly discovery call. We will talk through what is happening in your team, what you want to improve and which programme shape would feel most useful.
